Does Your Back Ache?

Bad Backs Bring Suffering to Many Norway Folks

Is that dull, constant backache making you old and miserable? Does your back throb and ache until it seems you just can't keep going? Do you suffer headaches, dizzy spells and urinary disorders; feel weak, tired and worn-out? Then look to your kidneys. Delay may mean serious kidney sickness! Use Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. Doan's are recommended by Norway folks.

Archie D. Gurney, 47 Water St., Norway, says, "There was a dull ache through my back that kept up steadily and made me feel tired and worn out all the time. My back was stiff and lame and when I got up in the morning, I could hardly get around. My kidneys were out of order and I had to get up at night to pass the secretions which contained acid. Five bottles of Doan's Pills cured me entirely."

HOW TO SOLVE A CROSS-WORD PUZZLE

When the correct letters are placed in the white spaces this puzzle will spell words both vertically and horizontally. The first letter in each word is indicated by a number, which refers to the definition listed below the puzzle. Thus No. 1 under the column headed "horizontal" defines a word which will fill the white spaces up to the first black square to the right, and a number under "vertical" defines a word which will fill the white squares to the next black one below. No letters go in the black spaces. All words used are dictionary words, except proper names. Abbreviations, slang, initials, technical terms and obsolete forms are indicated in the definitions.

AGRICULTURAL CLASS NOTES

Herbert S. Hill, state supervisor of vocational training, inspected the department at the high school, Thursday forenoon. That evening, Edward H. Brown, of Norway High, and Charles Rowe, inspectors in the agricultural department at South Paris High School, were in conference with Mr. Hill at Hotel Andrews, South Paris.

Members of the freshmen class studying poultry had a field trip to William Thayer's, Frost Corner, where they were instructed during two periods in poultry killing and picking.

The animal husbandry class judged three cows, using a score card, at Donald Andrews', recently. This work is to bring students under actual conditions, supplementing textbooks and class room demonstrations.

Many Prizes for Boys' and Girls' Clubs

The boys' and girls' agricultural clubs of Norway made a creditable showing at the county contest at South Paris. Norway won about 70 per cent of the prize money, and made two county champions, Verne Knightly in gardening and Louise Richardson in canning. One other senior, Lewis Richardson, won first honors in pig raising and only a few points behind the champion, Miss Thelma Adams, of Cornish. This is the record of three seniors in a group of four in town.

The juniors went forward strong with many in line for county championship honors, should they continue after reaching high school age. Many honors were earned in an exhibition where competition was keen and splendid samples shown from all parts of Oxford County.

One or more of hundred per cent clubs were reported from this town. From a total enrollment of 43 members of the garden, pig raising and chick raising clubs, 39 completed the work required.
Club leaders in every town accomplished a great deal and deserve praise for their unselfish devotion to the work of the young people soon to become citizens and carry on agricultural affairs.

MAINE THREE QUARTER CENTURY CLUB, OF NORWAY

All Norway Maine residents, over 75 years of age, are invited to come to the Norway Grange Hall, on Friday, Oct. 23, afternoon or evening, and join the Three Quarter Century Club, that was formed in August, this fall.

W. D. Thurber, Executive Secretary of the Maine Public Health Association, has sent membership cards to Mrs. Jackson, who has had charge of the "Know Maine" program, on that date to be given by the Norway Grange. There are no expenses to the membership, simply an honorary privilege for every resident of Maine, 75 years or older. 147 members in 147 members have already joined and received a certificate of membership signed by Gov. Brewster.

The 1926 meeting will be held in Portland, and entertained by the Chamber of Commerce. This goes to prove that "Folks Live Longer in Maine."

The Harvest Supper Program at the Universalist Church, Wednesday Evening,
Oct. 28, will be "An Old Fashioned Feasting," given by the Millettville and Crockett Ridge members. The prize winning Champion Fiddler of Maine will have his century old fiddle on hand at the party, with his assistants, to furnish music. Colonel Melville Dunham is the man. There will be songs and readings and a "wonderful Baby Thelma Act," with all due apologies to the real little actress, or mind reader.

Rev. Otis H. Tracy, D. D., supplied at the South Paris Baptist Church, Sunday Morning.

Charlie "Shorty" Thomas, of Ridol-ville, is handling the trade at Parin's Pool Room, and general, helper about the place. "Shorty" is experienced help, and a good mixer. He likes Norway, and has decided to remain here.

Col. Melville Dunham, of Maine, is Cherry Noble and Howard Shaw, played for a dance at Thorne's Corner, Monday evening. Melville's fame as the champion fiddler of Maine was sufficient to draw crowds for miles around, hence the Grange Hall was packed. Old fashioned dances were in order.

The Browning Reading Club was entertained Monday evening by Mrs. Gertrude E. Libby. The roll call included quotations from Josh Billings' writings.

"IT'S BEST MEDICINE EVER CAME TO MAINE"

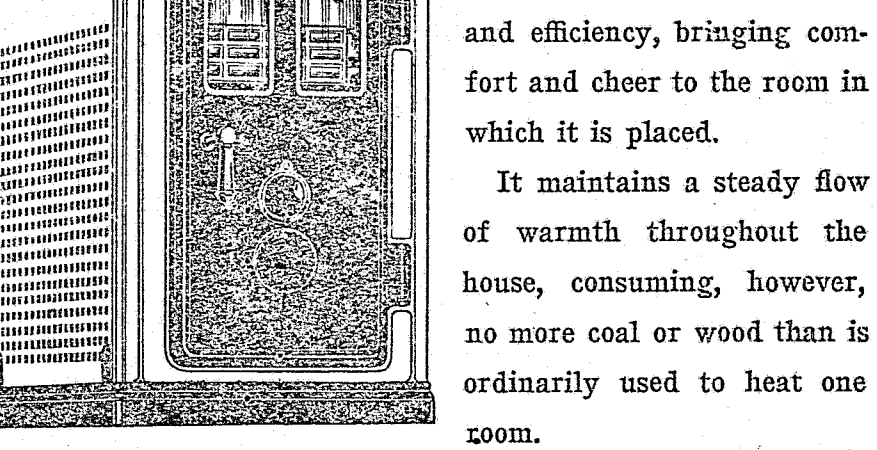

"We Wouldn't Be Without Karnak In The House—It's Our Family Medicine Now" Says Westbrook Police Officer.

"My wife and I will always praise this Karnak—it's the best medicine that ever came to Maine," says Joseph A. Herbert, well-known Westbrook, Me., police officer, living at 52 Sargent St. "For six years my wife had suffered from extreme nervousness and indigestion, and was sick and weak all the time. She didn't know what it was to eat without having indigestion pains, headaches and dizzy spells, she simply couldn't get a night's sleep that gave her any rest. In spite of all the medicine she took nothing helped her a particle until we got hold of this Karnak."

But I want to tell you this medicine did the work. Why, my wife doesn't know what it is to suffer from indigestion or stomach trouble now, and she eats just as hearty as anyone, and nights she sleeps like a child. It has simply made a new person of her.

"I'll tell you this Karnak has been so remarkable in her case that I have started taking the medicine myself and I can just feel the good of it to my finger tips already. Yes sir, Karnak is our family medicine now, and if anyone wants to know about it, just send 'em to me."

Karnak is sold in Norway exclusively by Frank P. Stone; and by the leading druggist in every town.

Community Building

Move to Encourage Ownership of Homes

"To encourage and facilitate home building, reduce needless burdens in household operations, raise standards not only of the home, but of the community and the nation, is a task of profound importance for the welfare of America," declares Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, president of Better Homes in America, in an opening statement concerning Better Homes week demonstrations for 1925, which will be held May 10 to 17.

Mr. Hoover's statement is made in a foreword to the "Better Homes Guide Book," issued by the organization of which he is the head, which tells how communities may be organized for better homes demonstrations.

In the last three and a half years the Better Homes of America organization has reached a steadily increasing number of communities and urged importance of encouraging home building and home owning.

"It is in the home," says Mr. Hoover, "that character and high ideals are best developed. The right kind of home life makes for true success in life and means progress for the nation as a whole."

"To own a home and to make it convenient and attractive, a home where health and happiness, affection and loyalty prevail, brings out the best that lies in every member of the family."

"Saving for home ownership, for instance, develops thrift and self-denial. A thing of lasting value is kept in the foreground and all energies are bent toward attaining it. Hours devoted to saving a home in good repair, in making improvements that beautify it or lighten the burden of housekeeping, develop persistence and thoroughness, and bring more direct returns as well. Neatness, order and cleanliness are invaluable habits, and the careful observation and forethought needed to insure lasting satisfaction from money spent for decoration, furnishing and equipment can be applied in many other ways."

Remodeling of old houses has become more general than in years. Many dwellings in the United States offer opportunity for improvements and make them more attractive, larger and more in line with present architectural design.

These changes generally can be made at a comparatively small cost, considering the value added to the house itself.

Among the changes which can be made is the addition of a dormer window, which not only breaks up the monotony of the roof expanse, but make available additional room space under the roof. A treatment suggested for houses having a rather drab exterior is the use of a porch or porch-like structure in front of the house. The many different styles available, as they are erected in recent years, offer opportunity for improving the appearance of the home, and usually at a moderate cost.

Greater balance in the general scheme of a house frequently can be obtained through one end or additions to both ends. Change in the roof plan, whereby a purely two-story dwelling is converted into a semi-bungalow type with low-hanging eaves, not only in great favor, is another alteration that may do much to make the house of more modern appearance, with a consequent increase in selling value.

Realty Investments
The constantly growing demand for property justifies consistent increases in the prices paid for holdings, for after all, the value of real estate is determined by the service it renders to the individual, industry or community, just like anything else. Therefore, the trend of property values is ever upward and always will be, as the ascription made by a prominent Detroit real estate man recently.

There isn't a single individual who cannot look back for a period of years of greater or lesser extent, and recall of property which went begging at any price, and yet today that same place of land is a fortune. This is true of the neighborhood, the city, state, nation and of the world.

Strengthen Family Ties
No family ever felt for a rented house that deep-seated affection which is naturally developed for a home they own. There is little incentive to adorn and beautify the house and the yard which belong to another.

But when the place that shelters the family group is their own, every added beauty, every tree and shrub and flower planted adds new charm and binds the happy hearts.

Other Side of the Ledger
Jones was sent by his employer, a bookmaker, to collect a betting debt from Smith, who was notorious for his slackness in settling accounts.

After listening to several excuses Jones remarked, "Well, at least let me know on what date I may expect payment."

Smith replied: "Do you take me for a prophet?"

"No," responded Jones. "Up to the present I have always regarded you as a loss!"

Where Days Are Short
North cape, at the extreme north of Norway, is within the Arctic circle, and at that point the sun does not rise for two months in midwinter—that is, there is a continuous night from December 20 to January 23. On these two days the sun barely shows its upper edge above the horizon. Sunset almost immediately follows sunrise, and these therefore are the shortest days at North cape.

Men are but children of larger growth; our appetites are as apt to change as theirs, and full as craving.

Children's Curiosity, Falsehood and Punishment

Curiosity
Children learn by asking questions. They ask them because they want to know something. The first impulse of the mother, who is busy at work, is to tell the questioning child to run away and play and stop bothering her. The mother who answers her child in this manner is not doing the right thing by her child.

No matter what the question may be she should give a definite, truthful answer to it. Mothers who have not answered the questions of their children, have many times awakened to the fact, when the child grows older, that there is a barrier between them and the children, which keeps them from talking confidentially to each other. This is due to the fact that in refusing to explain to the children in their childhood, they have lost their confidence in the child in this manner is not doing the right thing by her child.

This is not the best plan for, the child is not discriminating between good and bad often times, and consequently they may get answers from people who do not come from the best values in life.

One of the greatest helps for the parents in answering questions, is the encyclopedia. Every home that can possibly afford it should have a dictionary and encyclopedia. Teach the children to use them for they contain a world of knowledge.

The habit of running away is due to curiosity many times. The child who runs away, wants to see what is around him, he wants to explore! To remedy this in the yard, he isn't telling what he thinks is a lie, for the big black dog that was really in the yard looks like a bear!

If some children persist in telling stories or direct falsehoods, the parents should break them of the habit as soon as they can. Always tell them you know it isn't true and that none believes it to be true.

Punishment
There are several kinds of punishment. Natural, corporal and depriving. The natural punishment is the kind that a child gets when he puts his finger on a hot stove, or when he cuts himself on a knife which he has been forbidden to use.

The corporal punishment has been in the past the one most commonly used. Today however, it is being discouraged and no forms of physical punishment are advocated. Whipping the child does NOT stop him from doing the same thing right over again.

Instead of using this form of punishment, it is much wiser, and generally more effective, if the mother reasons with the child and shows him why he has done something naughty. The third type of punishment, that of depriving the child has been misused many times. No child should be sent to bed without his supper as a punishment for some misdemeanor. Children need regular meals, and no one should keep them from having them. Deprivation, however, can be used to a good advantage ever, can be used to a good advantage in punishment. Perhaps he has been looking forward to a party or a ride. If he does wrong, he may be punished by not being allowed to have that pleasure.

In dealing with children, always put yourself in their place and deal with them as you would like to be dealt with. They are human as well as we and some regard should be paid to their feelings, for things to them are as real as to grown people.
